Proves Convicting Evidence in Spy Case. Christiania, Norway, Jan. 30,-(Correspondence of the Associated Press.) -An official handbook of German espionage, one of the most remarkable documents of the most remarkable documents of the war, was produced as evidence in the course of the great Hergen spy case, which has just been ended in the courts with the conviction of six of the defendants.

The handbook was found in the safe of Herr Paasche, one of the employes of the so-called German Information agency. Its title page bears the inscription, "Duties of the Espionage Service," and it contains, in the age Service," and it contains, in the words of the court, "the objects and methods of the German information agency in Scandinavia."

The introduction says that important information can be obtained through the neutral or enemy ships which come to Scandinavian ports, regarding such points as mine fields, mine belts, changes in lightships, etc. "By such information," it explains. "our U-boats can be shown not only safe routes, but also objects of at-

The best source is a ship captain, but they are difficult to obtain. The younger mates are easier to get, as their wages are not high. But if neither of these is available, the most likely person on a ship should be approached. Monthly paywill open, the air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. The hiring of commercial or other persons who travel in the enemy's country is suggested. The fooling of the German people is a fundamental thing, and it has continued through many, many years. The German state of mind is such now that all the militarists have to do is to tell the people that a thing is right and that ends it.

The kaiser said the sinking of the Lusitania was right and immediately it became right.

Hence, we find a clergyman, D. rine labor leaders already have prom-

By Victor Morgan. (Copyrighted, 1918, by the Newspaper Enterprise Association.) "Spurios versenkt"—to sink without leaving a trace. The words of a madman, we in America said, when intercepted dispatches revealed to us that the German minister to the Argentine felt that spurlos versenkt would be a fit fate for Argentine's ships.

We condemn this diplomat for his horrible suggestion. We thought the idea personal with him. It never occurred to any of us that spurlos versenkt might be the policy of the German pation. man nation.

But it is exactly that—probably was at the time the minister to the Argentine used the phrase. Whenever you read, as you frequently can nowadays, of lifeboats being shelled by a submarine as they leave a torpedoed vessel—that is spur-los versenkt. Sometimes the U-boat commanders save ammunition. In the North sea, after a torpedoing, a U-boat captain offered to tow the lifeboats to shore.

He suggested that the boats be made should be approached. Monthly payment of 50 to 500 kroner is available, fast to one another with ropes. When was spurlos versenkt. German newspapers explained that spurlos versenkt was a justifiable pol-icy when the matter first came up in the empire.

Merely to sink a ship and permit those on board to reach land in safety was not productive of the terror the Germans hoped to inspire by their submarine warfare.

It was still easy to get crews for munition and food ships both in neutral and beligerent ports. Spurlos versenkt would change all this. .The adoption of the spurlos versenkt policy was not attended by public pro-barbers, metal workers for ship yards and ammunition factories, and nurses are much sought after in England. Women are especially recommended as good agents for obvious reasons."

The greatest danger is said to be in the sending of information. "But this." says the writer of the handbook, "is reduced to a minimum by our chemical agents in Germany, who have taken special interest in this and have prepared means which, owing to the inferiority of the enemy's chemical knowledge, he is unable to detect. The materials are given to agents in a form which attracts no attention."

The adoption of the spurlos versenkt policy was not attended by public promulgations and notices to foreign nations. Little is known about this policy in America. Yet much has been printed on the subject in Germany. It seems that the policy did not have its origin in the navy or among the class that always has been regarded as in the lead in humanitarianism in every nation—the university professor group.

Lincoln said that no one could fool all the people all the time. The kaiser, however, fools all the German people all the time.

First he fooled them into madness—megalomania—to have an exaggerated notion of oneself. Under the spell of this madness it has been easy for him to weld the whole German people into to weld the whole German people into a compact force, with the conquest of Europe, and the conquest of the world, as its reasons for existence.

He has fooled them into believing that he is the chosen of the Almighty: that in his hands they, too, are the instrument of the Almighty, and that it is for the good of the world that all creation should come under German sway.

prisoners have been recently taken.

A British officer in an internment camp in Switzerland told me that by this system he had become samiliar with eight different prison camps in one for exhibition purposes," said he. "There were about a thousand of us, all taken in the latter part of 1914. First we were held in a prison camp in Westphalia. In 1915 they began to move us. The moves always were made after the people had been given word of troop activity in the west. "Whenever the fighting went against the Germans and was important enough to get into the communiques, we were moved eastward a notch. At the first town of any size we would be taken off the train and paraded through the streets.

Yes. The awakening will come about the time our American boys begin their letters home with "somewhere in Germany," instead of "somewhere in

WAR TRADE BOARD
AMENDS REGULATIONS American Vessels Not Requisitioned by Shipping Board in Same Class as Neutral Vessels.

Washington, Feb. 5.-The war trade board has announced that it has amended the new regulations governing the issuance of licenses for bunker and ship's stores so that American vessels not requisitioned by the shipping board are put in the same class with neutral vessels. The new regula-tions became effective the first of this month. Owners and charterers of American vessels not requisitioned must report the names of all vessels and masters and any changes that may occur respecting them. They also must sign an agreement to comply with all of the regulations, which restrict the trading of the vessels to certain countries and prevent them from supplying any ma-terials to an enemy warship.

Failure to observe the rules would result in the refusal of bunker coal to such a vessel in an American port.

NEW YORK MAYOR WANTS NATURAL ICE HARVESTED Manufacture of Artificial Ice Will be Curtailed on Account of Lack of Ammonia.

New York, Feb. 5.—To encourage the harvesting and storage of natural loc to meet what Mayor Hylan terms "an almost certain famine next summer," every facility and resource of the city was yesterday pledged by the mayor to assure a profitable 'return upon the money and time of persons who undertake now the storage of ice. The assurance was given in a statement issued from the mayor's office, in which he said that nearly all the ice used in the city in summer months is manufactured through the agency of ammonia. "I have been warned," the statement adds, "that every drop of that chemical will be commandeered by the federal government for the manufacture of ammunition. This means that the artificial ice business in New York will be a negligible one this summer."

DECATUR FEELING EFFECTS OF SHOALS' DEVELOPMENT

(Special to The News.) Decatur, Ala., Feb. 5.—Already Deatur is feeling the effects of the Muscle shoals development near Sheffield. Decatur is noted for its three fine hotels, and as a result many people are coming here to stop a few days at these hotels, as it is impossible to at these hotels, as it is impossible to get hotel accommodations at Sheffield.
On account of this great development at Muscle shoals property here is advancing in value and a number of deals have been made during the past few days.

It is believed that as soon as spring opens up and the work at Muscle shoals can be pushed with all force, many people will come to Decatur and locate. Already a number of factories are figuring on coming here, where Great developments are expected in Decatur just as soon as the winter is over and people are able to get about and do something.

FAYETTE ESCADRILLES BRING DOWN THREE PLANES mas Hitchcock, American Turf-man, Downs Two Enemy Air-men in Short Order.

Paris, Feb. 5 .- Taking advantage of the fine weather, members of the La Fayette escadrilles continued their exploits over the French brilliant front during the last few days, bring-ing down three German machines and ican turfman, whose home is on Long Island, downed two enemy airmen within a short time of each other—his first victories in the air. David E. Putnam, of Brookline, Mass., brought down his third machine.

Details of these combats in the air have not yet been received in Paris. Both Hitchcock and Putnam have been on the battle front less than three months and have not yet been transferred to the American army.

ALIEN ENEMY REGISTRANTS OBJECT TO FINGER PRINTING

New York, Feb. 5.—The first of the six days during which all alien male Germans and Austrians older than 14 years must register, passed with no disorder and little confusion here. Some of the registrants objected vig-orously to the finger print phase of the procedure, but complied when warned that refusal was punishable by internment for the duration of the war. The registration, regarded as light today in comparison with the total number of Teutonic subjects known to be in the city, appeared to be heaviest on the upper East Side as the water front paralleling the southern part of this congested area is forbidden territory on account of the steamship piers.

Quantico, Va., Feb. 4.—What section of the trenches do you hall toom? That's a hard question to answer, if you don't happen to know, and there's only one man in the world who can look at you and tell, according to latest reports from the U. S. marines in France.
